

Do you enjoy being outdoors?

Do you want to learn more about conservation and restoration of our local ecological communities? Do you want to take part in local environmental education programs?

Apply to the Center for Environmental Biology's undergraduate internship program.

Interns participate in ecological research, monitoring projects, and environmental education programs in local open space, and have the opportunity to work with local land management agencies. Interns receive academic credit.

- Prerequisite: Must have taken BioSci 194s before fall enrollment.

Go to UCI's CEB website for more information and to download an application:
